Q: Facebook and JWT refresh token I'm trying to implement JWT authentication with Facebook for my android application. The only problem I have is that my accessToken is expired and I need to refresh it. According to the Facebook documentation I need to use FBSessionOpenFlagsExtended, so I tried to use this in my code: `mFBSessionManager.setActiveSession(this, true, new FB.EventCallback() { @Override public void onComplete(Bundle values) { // do something } }, fbCallback);` But onComplete method is not called. I have tried using the following flags in addition to that, but that didn't help me: `mFBSessionManager.setExtendedOpenRequest(this, openRequest, true);` `mFBSessionManager.setExtendedOpenRequest(this, openRequest, false);` Is there any other way to refresh token? A: We faced a similar issue and in my case the problem was that i was implementing FBSecurityChecker on a different thread. I know this is not the best possible implementation, but it is the only one that worked for me. You need to put the FBSecurityChecker to the main Thread. `(onViewCreated) mFBDialog = FBLoginDialog.getInstance(); //Get the Activity Context and put the Context in a variable because its needed to access the facebook sdk Context context = ProgressDialogActivity.this; //Begin the dialog activity and set the Activity context in the Context variable mFBSessionManager = FBSessionManager.getInstance(); mFBSessionManager.beginTransaction().replace(R.id.dialog_root, mFBSessionDialog).commitAllowingStateLoss(); mFBSessionManager.setLoginBehavior(SessionLoginBehavior.SUPPRESS_LOGIN_GUARD); mFBSessionManager.setLoginBehavior(SessionLoginBehavior.RE`

Image caption Cars were forced to stop in the middle of the road in St Asaph Police forces in North Wales are highlighting a "major incident" after part of the A55 at St Asaph, Denbighshire, was blocked for several hours. Motorists faced traffic chaos with vehicles being forced to stop in the middle of the road at around 10:20 BST. The road remains closed, with motorists advised to take the A55 or A55(M) in both directions and use the existing A548. Police in the area have said it will be closed for several hours. Officers from Wrexham and Flintshire said it was due to a road improvement scheme on the A55 between the junction with the A548 and the A5. The diversion was in place until 13:30 BST but police said it would reopen at 15:00. The network of streets is busy with residents and commuters linking the A55 to the North Wales Expressway at St Asaph and to the north coast.

BEIJING — The Chinese-owned casino company that operates two of Las Vegas's newest gambling establishments is bankrolling a series of ads for President Donald Trump that are likely to anger U.S. casino owners, a sizable chunk of whom already view Trump's views as detrimental to their businesses. MGM Resorts International is spending as much as $7.5 million on an advertising campaign in Nevada, where it owns the Mandalay Bay and Encore resorts, according to agreements disclosed on the company's website, and it is selling the ads on behalf of two pro-Trump Super PACs — America First Action and Great America PAC. In an unusual twist, the casinos are funding the campaign, which includes television, radio and digital ads on social media, according to the disclosures. U.S. casinos are normally barred from involvement in U.S. presidential campaigns. The company is not directly backing Trump's campaign, but is co-ordinating with the two Super PACs, which were formed a few weeks ago. The ads are in line with Trump's policies and rhetoric and are likely to reflect the views of Steve Wynn, the Las Vegas casino magnate and Republican fundraiser who is chairman and chief executive of MGM Resorts. Wynn has discussed Trump during a U.S. Senate committee hearing last week, when he praised the candidate's property tax proposal as one that
